THE NATURE OF HAPPINESS

OK Nature, we owe you an apology.

For many of us, it seems that our busy social networking lives have fallen out of “like” with you.

We’re just not as happy without you, nature.
So starting right now, and right here in Crystal Valley, we’re recommitting our adoration toward you.

Long walks on the trail?
Done.

Gazing into each other’s eyes at sunset?
We can’t wait.

From the way things are looking in this community,
this is the refresh of a beautiful relationship.

ZIG when everyone else ZAGs

It's time to remove the "would've," "could've," and "should've" from your vocabulary and add a little "let's go," "it's time" and "head out." Crystal Valley is designed to be different than anywhere else in Castle Rock. Different is a single-track ride high above the neighborhood along the ridgeline. Different is a neighborhood that feels like an enclave, without feeling off the grid. Different is good. And different is waiting for you.

PLAY. IT'S IN OUR NATURE.

Hear that? It's not the call of the wild. It's the call of friends and family asking you to come out and hit the trails. Crystal Valley is naturally situated with direct access to 600 acres of open space and wildlife areas.

Right next door to Crystal Valley is Rhyolite Park, featuring lighted sports fields, tennis and basketball courts, playgrounds and a winding trail system that splinters off the park into open prairie grasses with views of the Front Range.

Just a few minutes' drive from Crystal Valley is Philip S. Miller Park. It's not just any park. It's 270 acres of just about everything: indoor and outdoor fields, batting cages, trampolines and pools. Plus, the 7.4 mile interconnected trail system will lead you to a 200-step challenge staircase, a 2.5-acre adventure playground that features a 40-foot long slide, and the Epic Adventure Tower that includes a zip line course and a climbing wall.

Multiple pocket parks and open spaces, connected by our community trail system, will provide kids, grown-ups and even dogs an abundance of space for fun and imaginative play.

Howdy, Neighbors!

There's a certain sense of being one with nature when you live in Crystal Valley. Your life begins to work in harmony with the original inhabitants. A change of season? In move the snowbirds... white-throated sparrows, to be exact. A Saturday morning hike becomes a game of who can count the most butterflies. And you become an expert at identifying tracks in the snow. Trust us. There will be a day when it's no longer just "wildlife." It's your new life. Only a little wilder.

THE COMMUNITY OF CRYSTAL VALLEY

You live in Colorado because you love Colorado. So do we. Which is why, at Crystal Valley, we let nature take the lead in the landscaping, with hillsides covered in tall grasses along with scattered juniper trees. We planned the bends in the road, and bumps in the single tracks, because sometimes home base is basecamp for your next Colorado adventure.

Historic Castle Rock

Small towns are just good for the soul.

Nestled between the foothills and the high plains is the historic, picturesque community of Castle Rock. As you stroll through the quaint downtown streets, you might just do a double take. Did a stranger just wave to me? If so, it could be the proprietor of one of Castle Rock's many locally owned boutiques and gift shops. Business owners here are a close-knit, friendly community that will welcome you warmly.

Traditions are at the heart of any small town. And since 1936, the community of Castle Rock has a lasting tradition, called "Starlighting." Each year, the community gathers together on the Saturday before Thanksgiving to ring in the holiday season by lighting the iconic star on The Rock. It's almost like a scene from Currier and Ives, and it's a reminder that small towns are alive and well. Very well.

Life, with all this charm and convenience, is just moments away from your front door in Crystal Valley.

Happiness

Our forefathers etched it in our hearts
as a noble pursuit.

A journey. A great endeavor. Here at Crystal Valley, we think happiness is less of an expedition and more of an experience. Fact is, people who spend more time in nature have increased levels of happiness.

So why chase after it?

When you live here, a few well-earned steps outside your front door make you one with nature and one with happy.

Welcome to Crystal Valley.
